Lac la Biche Briefs

LAC LA BICHE. — Mrs. Swift has her sister, Mrs. W. A. Deeprose and her two children, of Boyle, staying with her for a few weeks.

Who started the balloon episode in town Friday? Let's not blame the younger set.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Carran left July 11 for a week's vacation in Edmonton and Fort Saskatchewan where their daughter, Mrs. F. Danyluk lives.

A Hudson aircraft was over Lac la Biche Monday morning taking pictures. It was flying very high so it isn't likely that many saw it.

Mr. Senetza and Mrs. Dorish are attending summer school.

Mrs. Hayduk and family left for a two weeks' visit with relatives near Innisfree.

Mr. Gimby is in the city marking examination papers.

Mrs. H. Swift has her sister, Mrs. Deeprose and children here for a few weeks.

Dr. Dykes is a guest of the Brinsmeads for a few days. He is giving Dr. Brinsmead a hand while up here.

Mrs. R. Whitford is at Briereville for a few days with her sons.

We think the 'Dodgers' can make a better show if they try. Enough of 'them' disappointments, fellas!

Oil Well Blows Out, Makes Crater

LAC LA BICHE — Stanolin has abandoned hope of salvaging the rig which fell in the 50-foot crater formed when Lac la Biche No. 1 blew out for the second time.

The well, situated about 10 miles in a direct line across the lake from the village at LSD 16 S-27-68-14W4, is being filled in, and both well and rig written off.

Stanolin is not the only oil company to experience difficulty with terrific gas pressures found in this area. Central Leduc Oils Ltd., Lac la Biche No. 1, at LS 14 of Section 20-69-13W4, some months ago blew out and caught fire.

While natural gas is not an infallible sign of oil, it is a promising lead, and oil companies will probably continue their search. At least two geophysical parties are still in the area.

Stanolin No. 1 first blew out at a relatively low level. After the well was brought under control, drilling was recommenced only to have a second, and extensive, blow out. On neither occasion did the well catch fire.

After the second blow out the well was sealed off. Unsuccessful attempts were made to lift the rig out of the hole.

At least this village knows it has potential supply of natural gas close by if public or private interests can be persuaded to exploit it.

Wandering River Wins Ball Tournament

LAC LA BICHE SPORTS DAY JULY 7th

LAC LA BICHE — After a slow start and threatening rain, the annual sports day at Lac la iche, which was postponed from July 1st to the 7th, got under way.

Amber Valley, Briereville, Boyle, Wandering River and Lac la Biche were all entered in the baseball tournament and in the draw the teams were lined up as follows:

Briereville vs. Lac la Biche

Amber Valley vs. Wandering River

Boyle obtained a bye.

The opening game between Briereville was closely contested and with the score tied at 1-1 in the fifth inning, the game was blasted wide open on a succession of fumbles by the local boys in the sixth inning which saw the Lac la Biche team at the short end of a 7-1 score.

Amber Valley vs. Wandering River was the second game. The Wandering River boys surprised all and sundry by stepping right in and taking a 5-run lead in their very first time up and they held their lead throughout. Final score, Wandering River 7, Amber Valley 2.

In the second draw, Wandering River was fortunate to obtain the bye and Briereville was lined up against Boyle. This was a hotly contested game with Briereville taking an early one run lead which looked bigger and bigger as the game progressed. Boyle tried desperately to tie it up and in their best inning with three on and nobody out the Boyle fans were whooping it up strong when a sudden sharp drive into short right field was nicely handled by the Briereville outfielder and turned into a double play and broke the rally up short. From there on the game settled into a regular pitchers' duel with no further runs scored. Final score: Briereville 1, Boyle 0.

In the final game for first prize purse of $125.00, it was Briereville vs Wandering River. The boys are still talking about this one. It was 1-0 for Wandering River early in the game, then Briereville made it 2-1 only to lose their lead again in the next inning 3-2 for Wandering River. Try as they might, from then on it was scoreless baseball played hard and clean and the final inning saw the score, Wandering River 3, Briereville 2. Wandering River thus won the tournament and prize. The game was a thriller, a dandy to win, a tough one to lose. Congratulations, Wandering River. Nice going Metro!

Could Not Get Canada Out of His System

LAC LA BICHE — One of those war-visiting Americans who could not get Canada out of their blood, Leonard Gregory, has opened a garage and machine shop here.

Mr. Gregory selected Lac la Biche after a motor survey of the province. When he was unable to find a garage open to fill his empty gas tank at a late hour he thought this village a promising place to open a garage. He will remain open from 6 a.m. to midnight at first and hopes eventually to provide 24-hour service.

Born at International Falls, Minnesota, he came to Edmonton in 1941 with the U.S.A. Air Force to set up crank shaft machines. Then a widower, he married the former Margaret Cassels, of Edmonton, in 1942.

After a tour of duty at Fairbanks, Alaska, when the war ended he returned to Minnesota, but he had been attracted by Canada, and returned to settle in Calgary. There he was in charge of a machine shop and garage for Fred Mannix for five years; but he wished to go into business for himself.

In his shop at Block 19, Lots 11 and 12, Edmonton highway, he will feature Purity 99 products.

Twins by a former marriage, Marla and Mary, 13 years old, who have been living with relatives in Minnesota, are coming to Lac la Biche for their summer holidays.

Anglican Church Appoints Rev. A. G. Howes, Rector

LAC LA BICHE—The Anglican Church has appointed its first full-time rector.

The Rev. Mr. Howes has just graduated from Emmanuel College, Saskatoon. Born in England, he came with his parents to Canada to settle in Grand Prairie.

The Bill Kudrinesky inquest was held at Athabasca on Wednesday. Verdict of accidental death was brought in by the jury. The funeral took place at Willow Flat on Thursday.

Miss Mary Sutton is home for a holiday.

Mr. Douglas Coverly, Sr., is seriously ill in the Royal Alexandra hospital, Edmonton.

Leonard and Jean Plamondon, the latter sister to Mrs. Nick Derko, have been visiting at the Derko home.

A number of Grasslanders motored to Skeleton lake on Sunday and enjoyed fishing and swimming.

A marriage has been arranged to take place on July 13 between Mr. Ray McKenzie of Grassland, and Miss Hannah Sarnicki of Thorhild. There will be a wedding dance in Grassland Community hall on July 15.

Mr. Mike Duniec, who was recently injured in a tractor accident, is back from hospital in Lac la Biche.

Mrs. John Zelinsk has returned from Athabasca hospital with a baby son.

Business Men Improve Premises

LAC LA BICHE — Business concerns are undertaking, or planning, considerable construction or renovation.

T. B. Lett's new and second-hand store is to have a new front, complete renovation of the interior and re-stocking.

The Royal Cafe, directly north of the railway station, completely destroyed by fire, is being rebuilt. George Chow, manager, expects to open before the end of the month.

A new garage and machine shop is being set up on the Edmonton highway. Leonard Gregory, the proprietor, is a new resident.

Patterson & Co. are putting on a new front. The dry goods section has been considerably enlarged, and the store extended to accommodate it, including installation of two large display windows. New stocks of dry goods are arriving daily direct from eastern factories.

Union Cafe has already completely overhauled its kitchen and plans a face-lifting job on the interior, including redecoration, new booths and a rebuilt lunch counter. A new sign is also to be erected.

Bouvier general store on Main Street is also planning alterations, the exact extent of which has yet to be determined.

Construction of concrete sidewalks has already started, the section in front of the Post Office being laid first.

Chief business of the meeting was plans for the fall bazaar. It was decided to make it as large as possible in order to raise a worthwhile sum. It was decided to try to complete all work already planned in time for the August 1 meeting.

Mrs. Hayduk and Mrs. Lett were appointed as visiting committee for July.

The ladies have decided on a bee to clean the church Thursday, July 14. A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Griswold.

TOO MANY TRACTOR MISHAPS

With too great frequency, deaths due to tractor accidents have been reported in recent weeks. In many cases, a tractor being driven along a road has toppled into the ditch, the driver being fatally crushed beneath it. In several, people have been killed when a tractor, operating in a field, has run over them.

Seldom have inquests been called to examine the causes of the mishaps; they have been accepted with an unusual degree of fatalism as an accident that could not be helped.

It may be that drivers of tractors, some of them of the caterpillar type, have felt too secure. The "cats" are especially manoeuverable on steep slopes; many have marvelled at their ability to operate in narrow basement excavations in the city.

Perhaps all that can be done is to warn all tractor drivers that the machines can and do upset, and more easily than they think. Or it may be that some slight alteration in design could put the centre of gravity still lower, and so make the machines even more stable than they are.

In any event, official investigations into the causes of such fatalities should be made; they might prove instructive and even reassuring.

The Better Things

It is better to lose with a conscience clean
Than to win by a trick unfair;
It is better to fail and to know you've been,
Whatever the prize was, square,
Than to claim the joy of a far-off goal
And the cheers of the standers-by,
And to know down deep in your inmost soul
A cheat you must live and die.
Who wins by a trick may take the prize,
And at first he may think it sweet,
But many a day in the future lies
When he'll wish he had met defeat.
For the man who lost shall be glad at heart
And walk with his head up high,
While his conqueror knows he must play the part
Of a cheat and a living lie.
The prize seems fair when the fight is on,
But save it is truly won,
You will hate the thing when the crowds are gone,
For it stands for a false deed done.
And it's better you never should reach your goal
Then ever success to buy
At the price of knowing down in your soul
That your glory is all a lie.

—"The Recorder"

IF EVERYONE

If everyone who drives a car
Could lie a month in bed,
With broken bones and stitched-up wounds,
Or fractures of the head,
And there endure the agonies
That many people do,
They'd never need preach safety
Any more to me or you.

If everyone could stand beside
The bed of some close friend
And hear the doctor say, 'No hope'
Before that fatal end,
And see him there unconscious,
Never knowing what took place,
The laws and rules of traffic
I am sure we'd soon embrace.

If everyone could meet
The wife and children left behind
And step into the darkened home
Where once the sunlight shined,
And look upon 'The Vacant Chair,'
Where daddy used to sit,
I'm sure each reckless driver
Would be forced to think a bit.

If everyone who takes the wheel
Would say a little prayer.
And keep in mind those in the car
Depending on his care,
And make a vow, and pledge himself
To never take a chance,
The Great Crusade for Safety
Would suddenly advance.

ELECTION REFLECTIONS . . .

All our readers will know that the 1949 general elections ended in complete victory for Prime Minister St. Laurent, in that he has now a greater majority than any former government has had in Canada's parliamentary history.

T. W. Pue

Opposing parties, hoping to make headway, have instead lost nearly half their total former representation.

In every province—except our own—the Liberal party won a majority of seats. Appeals were made by government campaigners in Alberta to elect government (Liberal) candidates, but to the majority of Albertans the idea of having a sitting member who could assist in the formulation of government legislation does not seem to have much to commend it.

Out of a total of 17 Alberta seats there are now 10 Social Crediters, two Progressives Conservatives and five Liberals.

ATHBASCA

As the Liberals found out in a recent Quebec byelection, there is no value to any party in having the vote split by opposition candidates carrying the same party banner, torn to shreds, in dissension.

Orvis Kennedy, enthusiastic party man in the Social Credit ranks came off second best in Athabasca. Joe Deschene was returned to Ottawa with a majority in excess of the independent S.C. vote drawn off by Mr. Nykyforuk, however.

JASPER-EDSON

In this riding Walter Kuhl, since 1935 S.C. candidate and Ottawa house member has held sway—but now Jack Welbourn, Liberal, has the seat. Jasper-Edson constituents now have a government member for, I believe, the first time in many years.

Walter, so they say, claims the dominion of Canada does not exist. Well, for him, his seat in the dominion's parliament no longer exists.

CAMROSE

Dr. H. H. W. Beyerstein, chiropractor of Camrose was elected for the first time to represent this constituency, but as Social Credit candidate he presents no change in party representation. The S.C. vote here was quite strong.

BATTLE RIVER

In most rural ridings, the Progressive Conservative vote did not amount to much in Alberta. In Battle River there was no Progressive Conservative candidate, and so you might think that with less splitting of the anti-Socred vote the Liberal would have walked out with a majority of the votes.

But this was not the case. Hard-working Cliff Saville lost out to equally hard-working Robert Fair.

VEGREVILLE

The only constituency with only two names on the ballot turned from Social Credit to Liberal with a good majority. Young John Decore, able, energetic and fully conversant with the needs of his constituents is now representing Vegreville on the government side.

EDMONTON

The spectacle of a traditionally Liberal newspaper, the Bulletin, and the equally Conservative paper the Journal, both supporting the Liberal government was presented.

However, in addition to supporting the Liberal government the Bulletin also favored the election of Progressive Conservative Ray Milner.

Now, Ray Milner, besides owning huge interests in several big companies, and along with being a good Conservative, has many other fine qualifications. All these were given as reasons for the support the Bulletin gave Ray Milner

But then we can't help but feel that the principal reason for supporting Ray Milner was because he also owns a good part of the paper. The Bulletin did not stress this as a reason for their support of Mr. Milner's candidacy but he lost the election just the same, to young George Prudham.

SELF-CONDEMNATION

What the Bulletin succeeded in doing was to condemn itself severely for the way it was managed during the inglorious ownership of Charles E. Campbell. Having been on the staff of the Edmonton Bulletin during the time Charlie Campbell owned the paper, and having some familiarity with the circumstances under which he sold the independence of his paper "intent only on raking in the advertising profits" I find myself very much in agreement with this phase of self-chastisement.

However, it does seem odd that a newspaper would support the party as a whole and yet support a rival candidate, but that's what happened.

Well, anyway, it was a remarkable election and one that will be long remembered.

WEST WIND

A wild west wind blew strong today,
Like a lion that had been freed,
Its tempestuous roar as onward it bore,
Seem to bring thoughts of home to me.
I passed great houses but I saw them not.
For my memory bore onward with wings,
And in memory lore, I searched its store,
To find relics of homey things.

I could smell sweet green grass,
See vast rolling hills,
And the prairie so airy and free,
Then I paused in my roam,
For I knew I was home,
When I gazed at a house circled with trees.

Just a small cottage place,
And etched on its face
Where the marks of weather and time.
But to me it spelled rest,
With love for its crest,
Something so pure and divine.

CAUGHT!

Green, who was the local athletic champion, had been holding forth at great length. None of the club regulars could do anything about it. But presently a visitor looked up.

"I'll bet $10," he said cheerfully, "that I can wheel something in a wheelbarrow from one street lamp to the next, and you can't wheel it back!"

Green looked him over and decided he wasn't very hefty. He concluded that whatever the stranger could do he could do.

"Taken," he said.

The stranger smiled, and with a couple of witnesses they set out. A wheelbarrow was borrowed and taken to the nearest street lamp.

The stranger rubbed his hands, picked up the handles. "Get in, Green, old man," he said.—"Classmate."

Master Farm Family

Alberta's minister of agriculture, the Hon. D. A. Ure, has announced that nominations for the 1949 Master Farm Family award can now be made.

Set up to honor farm families who have achieved notable success in farming, home-making and citizenship, the Master Farm Family program will be conducted by the Alberta Department of Agriculture.

Nominees for the award must be Canadian citizens, actually operating a farm, and the head of the family must have spent at least 10 consecutive years on a farm, including military service, if any. Nominations must be signed by three neighbors and accepted by the nominee.

The province of Alberta has been divided into five zones, in each of which a Master Farm Family may be named providing the standard attained is satisfactory.

Final selection of the Master Farm Families will be made by a committee of five representing the Department of Agriculture, the University of Alberta, the farmers of the province and farm women.

The basis of award will be determined by judging such factors as the Home and Farmstead, Operation and Organization of the Farm, Family and Community Life, and Management and Business Methods. Each of these general divisions will be subdivided into several sections for purposes of scoring.

Families who are named as Master Farm Families will receive a cash award of $1,000.00, and a suitable trophy. It is also intended that some form of recognition of a Master Farm Family be placed at the entrance to the farm.

On Wednesday Mr. Maclean read extracts from the articles of association of the company, Oct. 8, 1946. He pointed out from these that only the common shares of the company held voting rights unless there was certain default.

He also read from the company's minutes. In referring to the minutes of a meeting of Feb. 17, 1948, he claimed the meeting was held, but that evidence would show the minutes were not correct.

Scrap Wood Derrick On Potential Well In Edmonton Area

EDMONTON. — The story of Edmonton's first oil well, spudded in 36 years ago and still not complete, was told here recently as wrecking crews razed an old wooden derrick near the Cooking Lake Trail, near here.

Many who saw the structure, before it was toppled and scrapped, believed it marked an abandoned well but W. B. C. Chamberlain, one of three partners who began the original venture in 1912, says it never had been a dead issue.

Mr. Chamberlain's partners were his two brothers-in-law, B. R. Campbell and E. G. Campbell. With their own funds they erected the first wooden derrick in 1912 and were about to attach guy wires when the structure blew down.

A year later they rebuilt the derrick and began drilling. In 1914, when war broke out, they had gone down to 2,065 feet but their funds were depleted and money expected from England was tied up due to the war. Finally, the brothers joined the army and the well was cased.

B. R. Campbell never returned from the war but his brothers came back and in 1920 the oil search on Mr. Chamberlain's land was revived when a Spokane company took a contract to drill. It held the contract for a year but took no action. Then, two Toronto firms took over but they didn't get around to drilling.

Now, new negotiations are under way with a private company which plans to erect a modern steel derrick and continue drilling of the old well.

Mr. Chamberlain is optimistic about the well's possibilities. "Indications were very hopeful when we drilled the first 2,000 feet in 1913," he said. "We found great quantities of gas in the well and at 1,800 feet there was a tremendous gas blow.

"We're still hopeful of completing the well but there have been so many disappointments that we won't believe drilling has been resumed until we see it."

Call Off Air Hunt

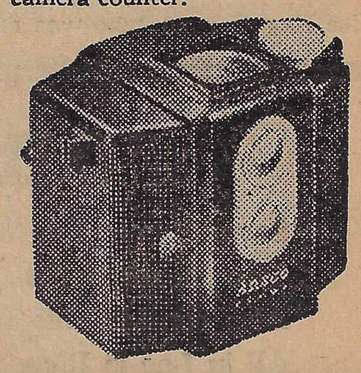

EDMONTON.—Hunting coyotes by airplane in Alberta will be discontinued "in the meantime," Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and forests, announced Wednesday.

The hunter is having difficulty spotting the animals due to growth of vegetation in various areas. Mr. Tanner said the scheme probably would be continued later in the year.

A toll of 98 coyotes were taken by the airplane hunter in the one-month experiment.

Redwater Residents Have Front-Door Oil Operation

REDWATER—Oil wells are not new to residents of Redwater, but to have a well drilled in the heart of the town is unique.

British American Oil Company is owner of this latest well. It is located on a field which was only recently levelled for a playground for the children.

The new B. A. well couldn't be more centrally located. To the south is the new $100,000 hotel and the town's grain elevators. On the west are houses with residents having a good front window view of the well. On the north are other houses including a new boarding house and a line of business places.

In the winter youngsters and adults will do their skating alongside the new well, just to the west.

Playground property, on which the new well is drilled, is owned by the provincial government and is known as park land.

Disaster Precautions

Every precaution against disaster at the well in the heart of the town has been taken by the oil firm. For instance the flare line is to be piped about half-a-mile northeast of the town so that fumes from the burning flare line are not too strong in the town.

The oil firm also has bonded all businesses and residents in the town which could be threatened by the well. They have been bonded for protection against any unforseen disaster.

Workers of the drill rig also will be taking every precaution in bringing the well in. The rig already has hit the pay zone. Extensive coring s being conducted. When the well does blow in, workers say it will be brought in slowly, thus eliminating any threat of trouble.

What happens to the children's playground? The youngsters will have new grounds about a half mile west of the town. It will be in conjunction with the playground required by children of parents living in the new Imperial Oil Ltd., housing project on the northern outskirts of the town.

Work on the Imperial housing project hasn't started as yet, but an early start is expected.

An addition to the school also is planned as the enrolment has increased greatly since oil was found in abundance at the field.

F. J. Reilly, who left the town of Fairview in northern Alberta about a year ago for the "peace and quiet" of a small town near Edmonton, is principal of the school. He hasn't found the quiet he expected but says he likes Redwater and its oil industry.

OIL WELL FRONT YARD VIEW FOR RESIDENTS OF REDWATER

Businessmen of Redwater and residents in nearby houses have a front window view of one of the latest oil wells in the Redwater sector. The well, drilled for British American Oil Company, is located in the heart of Redwater town. In fact it is so centrally located that the ground formerly had been cleared and levelled for a playground for the children. The youngsters will move to a new location. Pictured, looking toward the southwest, is the drill rig and beyond is the new hotel, grain elevators and along one street a number of dwellings. On the north side of the well, just across the road, are other houses and businesses. In the foreground is the skating rink. This coming winter the skaters and hockey players will perform their winter sports within a stone's throw of a good Redwater producing well.

Anglo-Canadian Trade Statement

In the United Kingdom House of Commons on May 9th, Mr. Philip Noel-Baker, Secretary of State for Commonwealth Relations, made an important statement on Anglo-Canadian trade. He said, "The House will be aware that the President of the Board of Trade invited Mr. C. D. Howe, Minister of Trade and Commerce in the Canadian Government, to visit this country and speak at the banquet of the British Industries Fair. During his visit ministers had the most valuable discussions with him about trade relations between this country and Canada. After a preliminary talk with the Chancellor of the Exchequer Mr. Howe had a series of meetings with the President of the Board of Trade, the Minister of Food, the Economic Secretary to the Treasury and myself.

"In those meetings we dealt with every aspect of our trade relations and discussed the fundamental problems involved in the increase of trade between our two countries. Mr. Howe explained that his government was naturally most anxious that United Kingdom purchases from Canada should be expanded. We made it clear to Mr. Howe that our desire to purchase more Canadian goods was only limited by the difficulty of payment, and that that difficulty could most quickly be relieved by an increase in the purchase of British goods by dollar countries. Mr. Howe assured us that the Canadian Government would give every support to the export drive to Canada which we are at present making and to further which the President of the Board of Trade is leaving on a visit to Canada tomorrow.

"In spite of our present difficulties we are still maintaining a high level of purchases from Canada. Our imports for the 12 months ending June this year will total nearly $700 million. They consist of wheat, bacon, timbler, eggs and raw materials of many kinds.

"In addition we now contemplate certain new purchases for 1949. We have informed Mr. Howe that we will purchase between three and four hundred thousand cases of canned salmon before the end of the year. (Note: it has since been announced, on May 28th, that Britain is to purchase 410,000 cases of British Columbia canned salmon).

"Special purchases of timber to the value of about $10 million will be made in the United States and Canada, contracts being awarded on the basis of commercial considerations.

"These purchases will be over and above the amount of West Coast timber which we are buying in the last half of 1949.

"We have further agreed that the quantity of flour to be bought from Canada under the provisions of the Anglo-Canadian Wheat Agreement during the year 1949-50 will amount to 400,000 tons.

"A limited purchase of Canadian apples and fruit pulp will also be made.

"Our talks have been of great value in removing misunderstanding about our policy with regard to trade with North America, and we hope the additional purchases we will make help to mitigate the difficulty caused to Canada by our shortage of dollars. Mr. Howe's visit has made an important contribution to an understanding of our mutual problems and I am sure the House would wish us to express our gratitude to him for coming here."

Agricultural Exhibits

Since its establishment in 1939, Line Elevators Farm Service has carried out a wide variety of educational work in the three prairie provinces. Not the least important of its activities in this field has been its agricultural exhibits.

Mobile Exhibit. Again, this year, during June, July, August and September, our "Mobile Agricultural Exhibit" will visit a number of country fairs, agricultural field days and rural sports' days in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Last year, this "Agricultural Show on Wheels" was displayed at 48 agricultural exhibitions and events in western Canada. It was visited by thousands of farmers. This year's exhibit will feature farmstead planning, soil conservation, farm safety, chemical weed control and other modern agricultural developments.

We extend a cordial invitation to farmers and their families to visit our Mobile Exhibit when it is on display at their local Fair or Field Day. Watch your local newspapers for further announcements.

Chemical Exhibit. The "Chemical Division" of this Department will also be represented at most of the Class "B" Fairs in western Canada this summer with an attractive educational exhibit on agricultural chemicals. This exhibit has been artistically designed to portray the growing importance of chemicals in the life of the western farmer It will emphasize the many modern uses of agricultural chemicals.

Authoritative publications on chemical weed control and on the use of DDT, Chlordan, and other new farm chemicals will be available at the exhibit booth, where a member of our technical staff will be on hand to provide information to prairie farmers, grain buyers and others on the latest developments in the agricultural chemical field. Master Farm Family

Alberta's minister of agriculture, the Hon. D. A. Ure, has announced that nominations for the 1949 Master Farm Family award can now be made.

Set up to honor farm families who have achieved notable success in farming, home-making and citizenship, the Master Farm Family program will be conducted by the Alberta Department of Agriculture.

Nominees for the award must be Canadian citizens, actually operating a farm, and the head of the family must have spent at least 10 consecutive years on a farm, including military service, if any. Nominations must be signed by three neighbors and accepted by the nominee.

The province of Alberta has been divided into five zones, in each of which a Master Farm Family may be named providing the standard attained is satisfactory.

Final selection of the Master Farm Families will be made by a committee of five representing the Department of Agriculture, the University of Alberta, the farmers of the province and farm women.

The basis of award will be determined by judging such factors as the Home and Farmstead, Operation and Organization of the Farm, Family and Community Life, and Management and Business Methods. Each of these general divisions will be subdivided into several sections for purposes of scoring.

Families who are named as Master Farm Families will receive a cash award of $1,000.00, and a suitable trophy. It is also intended that some form of recognition of a Master Farm Family be placed at the entrance to the farm.

On Wednesday Mr. Maclean read extracts from the articles of association of the company, Oct. 8, 1946. He pointed out from these that only the common shares of the company held voting rights unless there was certain default.

He also read from the company's minutes. In referring to the minutes of a meeting of Feb. 17, 1948, he claimed the meeting was held, but that evidence would show the minutes were not correct.

Scrap Wood Derrick On Potential Well In Edmonton Area

EDMONTON. — The story of Edmonton's first oil well, spudded in 36 years ago and still not complete, was told here recently as wrecking crews razed an old wooden derrick near the Cooking Lake Trail, near here.

Many who saw the structure, before it was toppled and scrapped, believed it marked an abandoned well but W. B. C. Chamberlain, one of three partners who began the original venture in 1912, says it never had been a dead issue.

Mr. Chamberlain's partners were his two brothers-in-law, B. R. Campbell and E. G. Campbell. With their own funds they erected the first wooden derrick in 1912 and were about to attach guy wires when the structure blew down.

A year later they rebuilt the derrick and began drilling. In 1914, when war broke out, they had gone down to 2,065 feet but their funds were depleted and money expected from England was tied up due to the war. Finally, the brothers joined the army and the well was cased.

B. R. Campbell never returned from the war but his brothers came back and in 1920 the oil search on Mr. Chamberlain's land was revived when a Spokane company took a contract to drill. It held the contract for a year but took no action. Then, two Toronto firms took over but they didn't get around to drilling.

Now, new negotiations are under way with a private company which plans to erect a modern steel derrick and continue drilling of the old well.

Mr. Chamberlain is optimistic about the well's possibilities. "Indications were very hopeful when we drilled the first 2,000 feet in 1913," he said. "We found great quantities of gas in the well and at 1,800 feet there was a tremendous gas blow.

"We're still hopeful of completing the well but there have been so many disappointments that we won't believe drilling has been resumed until we see it."

VACUUM JUGS FOR PICNICS

By RUTH WHALEY
District Home Economist

If you are planning on picnicking this summer you are probably planning to make good use of a vacuum bottle or jugs. These both need special care if they are to last and keep food in the best condition.

1. Ordinary dish-washing will not do for these containers because they cannot be immersed in water without injuring the insulation on the outside. Cleaning is done by rinsing and shaking, with the help of a soft bottle brush if necessary.

Before a new bottle is used rinse with lukewarm water. Before cold food goes in, chill the bottle with cold water, and before putting in hot food, heat with hot water.

2. After a bottle has held food, first rinse with lukewarm water, then fill with clean warm soapy water and shake up or soak for an hour or so. Any traces of food may be removed with a bottle brush.

Finally, rinse with clear lukewarm water and then with water containing a little baking soda. Turn upside down to drain, dry and air. Scrub corks and screw tops with soapy water, then rinse and dry.

3. When containers are not in use, leave them open. Fresh air keeps bottles and corks fresh. If they are closed, mold or stale odors may develop.

4. Sudden changes of temperature may crack the glass in glass-lined bottles. Before filling such a bottle with hot liquid, warm it gradually by rinsing first in lukewarm and then in warmer water. Before filling with a cold liquid, chill gradually by cool rinses.

5. It is safest to carry only very cold milk in vacuum containers, and to have the bottle well chilled before putting it in. At a warm temperature milk spoils rapidly. If cocoa or soup made with meat stock is carried, bring it to a boil and pour it in very hot, having the bottle well heated in advance. These foods should not be kept in the bottle more than an hour or two before using.

Prevent Mink Losses

D. R. Fraser, fur farm supervisor, Alberta Department of Agriculture, says that mink losses through food poisoning run into thousands of dollars each year, particularly during the warmer months. With high feed costs and unsettled market conditions it is very important that fur farmers take every care to protect their investment.

Cleanliness in the feed house is of primary importance. Disinfect all utensils, equipment and feed boards regularly, and use care in the handling and refrigeration of food supplies. Tainted or sour meat and fish should not be left in galvanized containers. Prepare the ration fresh for each day's feeding and practise early morning removal of the previous day's feed.

A regular check of all nest boxes should be made for stored feed and a weekly yard and pen cleaning program put into effect.

Certain types of food poisoning are infectious, so isolate all infected mink. Consult your local veterinarian at the first sign of any sickness.

DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL HEALTH AND WELFARE

DRIVE SLOWLY

By HARRY T. THOMPSON

The alarm clock rings an irritating reminder at six a.m. that you must arise and be ready for work, where-at you promptly turn your good ear down on the pillow shutting out the exasperating noise and fall asleep again. Next morning it may wake you up but the third time you will sleep through the infernal racket without disturbance.

The motoring public is exactly the same. Most motorists can read, others may have passengers who have been at school. Every illiterate Indian has become a master at sign reading by training, not at school. Their lives depend on it. Their lives and livelihood would be very drab indeed had they failed to develop this trait of interpreting signs to locate game and fur-bearing animals.

Your life or someone else's depends on the proper reading and strict adherence to these road signs.

For those who are unable to read, I write this explanation of a few of the many signs indicating danger or warning of possible trouble on the road ahead. For those who do read, well of course this may not be necessary as you will have read all the signs and obeyed the rules; not like the alarm clock user, disobeyed its purpose of waking you up at the right time.

Highways and district roads are not like your car. They, the roads, do need repairs. Your license plate cost is part of the roads' upkeep as well as a means of enforcing laws necessary to pedestrians and motoring public safety.

The roads are your roads and we, the maintenance and construction crews are your employees. Your money is used. Every minute you delay or stop a road crew's work for even five minutes it is costing you, the taxpayer, badly needed money.

When a road sign reads "Road Closed—Detour" it means exactly that. The detour may be a little rough but using the detour is helping us make you a better road by not delaying our crew and thus wasting your money. But when you persist in breaking our road block signs and get stuck along the operational part of the construction or repair section, expecting or demanding our time to pull you out—Well! we do sometimes but please understand that this is costing us money in wasted time that should be used on the road.

After 20 interruptions of this kind in a day we, who are responsible for proper use of your money do not feel very kindly towards the travelling public—our actual employers. Our patience and language become slightly frayed.

A red flag in front or rear of a vehicle or on any road means immediate danger. Keep clear and drive slowly. The man operating the machine needs all his attention on his work and cannot be occupied in watching for traffic to the neglect of his task.

Up to the present you have not equipped our machines with radar. Until you do, be certain the operator of a machine knows you are going to pass. You cannot with impunity bump an eight or ten-ton cat. There are better ways of testing their strength than that.

Every road sign has a meaning—space does not allow elaboration here. We pull down and remove signs the minutes they are no longer necessary. If the road sign reads "Go Slowly," all, except in school district areas, means that the road bed or top is dangerous to fast driving and has been recently repaired or about to be repaired.

Eternity is only 12 feet away on highways and only 11 on district roads. Your finger tips and good judgment is all that prevents you from entering the "pearly gates" hurriedly and uninvited. At 60 miles an hour your streamliner travels 86 and one-third feet every minute. Slightly over one second can land you upside down in the ditch across that 11 feet from the centre of a district road and 12 in gravel.

Remember that today there are mechanical monstrosities using your roads that your government and engineers never dreamed of when that old road was built. Your American cousins exploring for oil do not give it a continental D-dry hole what happens to your road after they get through with a 15 or 20-ton load of piping. Their necks at 60 miles or more mean nothing to them.

These oil men risk them every day and are well paid to do so. No doubt replacements can be obtained in the U.S. Canadians as yet have no substitute for the one you have. Better take care of it!

Oil Men Content With Legislation

EDMONTON.—Western oil men are "prtty well satisfied" with provincial legislation proposed to control export of Alberta's natural resources, Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of mines and minerals, said here.

Mr. Tanner and other members of the provincial cabinet met a delegation of Western Canada Petroleum industry representatives. They reviewed the Gas Export Bill and Conservation Act amendments which will be brought before a special session of the Alberta legislature.

The cabinet minister said oil officials were particularly pleased with legislation drafted in an effort to conserve the province's gas and oil supplies. Other legislation, if approved by the session, will make obligatory licensing of gas export companies by the provincial government.

GRASSLAND NEWS

GRASSLAND. — Mr. and Mrs. McHenry of Coldwell, Idaho, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stepaniuk of Vancouver, B.C., together with their families, are visiting at the home of Mr. Joe Stepaniuk. The parties met in Spokane and travelled through Waterton Lakes Park. They complain of the roads in southern Alberta which they describe as "horrible", but state that the road from Edmonton north is the best they have travelled on so far.

Most Grasslanders spent Sunday at Boyle, and enjoyed the picnic after spending a few hours at Skeleton lake.

Seismograph crews are at work on both sides of the hamlet, and soon the road of miniature earthquakes will be heard.

Mrs. Ira McKenzie has returned from Kelowna, B.C., where she visited many ex-Grasslanders who now reside in that district.

Clifford Entertainers put on a circus and vaudeville show on Saturday, which was much enjoyed by those who attended. A dance was held in the evening from 9 to 12 o'clock.

Miss Cyr of Legal is visiting at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Ira McKenzie.

Anyone wishing to see a magnificent display of roses should take a look at Mrs. Semenchuk's rose garden at Grassland. Roses of different varieties are in full bloom, making a picture which is a delight to the eye.

The following articles have been found in the hall recently: two hats, one cap, two pairs rubbers, and one lense from a pair of eye-glasses.

DUSTSTORMS WORST IN YEARS

Federal Government Fights Prairie Soil Erosion

"Never before," said the professor, "have I seen so much soil in the air in the black soil zone around Edmonton."

The speaker was Dr. J. D. Newton, professor of soils at the University of Alberta.

The doctor was commenting on the windstorms which have occurred in Central Alberta during the present dry spring. The windstorms, which have been worst in Saskatchewan, clog nostrils and pile rich, black topsoil feet deep in ditches.

SOIL BLOWN AWAY

Damage is worst to summerfallowed land in such dry years as this one, as tons of arid soil are picked up by winds and blown off the farmland.

To help combat soil erosion, the federal department of agriculture has begun using aerial surveys to photograph farmland and find out whether it is any good or not.

For the past three years, government-contracted airplanes have been photographing prairie farmland. When the shades of soil in an aerial photo show that a farmer's land is poor for working, the farmer is moved to land proven to be better.

His old, worked-out farm is seeded to buffalo grass, which protects the soil from erosion and gives it a chance to recover its richness.

WILL SAVE MILLIONS

The anti-erosion drive will save Canada millions, not only by giving farmers on "tired" land better crops, but by preserving the worn-out farmland for future use.

It is estimated that when present plan are completed, now-desolate prairie areas that are not being farmed will be producing crops again in 15 years.

AIRBORNE GOURMETS TO HAVE SPECIAL PRE-COOKED MEALS

Air passengers with hefty appetites will have something new in airborne cuisine served by Trans-Canada Air Lines.

Beginning this week, TCA North Stars will be equipped with special quick-heating ovens to provide passengers with pre-cooked frozen meals.

An estimated 1,500 meals a day cooked in a central kitchen at Winnipeg will be prepared, frozen, then re-cooked during flight. Pre-cooked meals have been available to TCA's trans-Atlantic passengers and the service has now been expanded to include all domestic runs.

EDMONTON IS KEY CENTRE IN WEATHER STATION NET

Edmonton, in addition to its role as air transport centre, is also key hub in Canada's chain of northern weather and meteorological stations.

Alberta's capital is the centre for a chain of some 50 weather stations strung out over 2,000 miles of northern wastelands, Dr. T. G. How, Ottawa, superintendent of public wather forecasting, told newsmen.

Eighty men live isolated lives in scattered weather outposts in the northland. Only other weather stations in the vast area are those operated by U.S. and Canadian armed forces.

Northwest Canada Gains Attention Of Agriculture

Northwestern Canada was the subject of agriculturists' speeches in Edmonton and Vancouver during the past fortnight.

At the University of Alberta, C. A. Weir of Calgary, district supervisor for the plant products division of the Dominion agriculture department, told Canadian Seed Growers' Association national convention that:

Possible expansion in Western Canada, especially in Alberta and northern British Columbia, is "almost beyond computation."

"The area suitable for legume crops alternated with coarse grains is vast beyond belief," he said. He added that "Nature has favored these northern areas," and listed climate as a major factor in permitting agricultural development in the north.

MORE SUNLIGHT

Greater amount of sunlight received in northern areas has an important effect on the rapidity of plant growth and helps overcome the cooler climate, he stated.

And in Vancouver, William Dixon, research assistant at the Ottawa Experimental Farm, told delegates to the Agricultural Institute of Canada that:

The first attempts are being made in Canada to find, before settlement takes place, what land will grow and support.

New work is being carried out at a Dominion experimental station near Whitehorse, in the Yukon. By growing on and testing the land, the government agriculturists are determining the agricultural potential of communities that don't even exist, as yet.

FUTURE DIVIDENDS

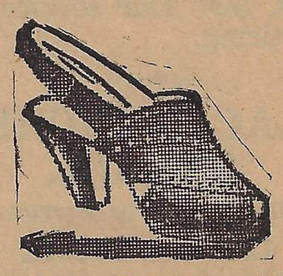

It's expected that the long-term project will pay big dividends in the future.

Coupled with the project is experimental work on new and hardier plants and vegetables, which are being used to improve the health of northern Indians.

But while the federal government planned for expansion in the northwest, a delegate from China to the International Federation of Agricultural Producers said in Lethbridge, "We have studied Canadian agriculture before but are amazed by the fact that so vast an area can be farmed by such a light population."
